

Eastern District of California

The United States District Court, Eastern District of California currently ranks first in the nation in workload with filings well above the average number in the nation and the Circuit. The United States Attorney's Office represents the federal government in virtually all litigation involving the District which is one of the largest in the country, serving nearly seven million residents. The Fresno Divisions of the Court and the U.S. Attorney's Office are overburdened, creating a significant impediment to intensified and timely prosecution of illegal marijuana activities.
