Delivering Information about Tulare County - July 2010

Chairman's Message: Employees Should be Commended

In March 2009 the County Administrative Officer encouraged all County departments to participate in the Strengthening the Bottom Line Program. Each department developed its own Budget Action Team. Each Budget Action Team generated ideas to create ways to reduce expenditures, increase revenues, and improve operations.

Tulare County's employees stepped up, met the challenge, and are commended for their innovations.

I would like to share two ideas that have been implemented by the County because of employee suggestions:

Going Paperless

Employees suggested that going paperless would save Tulare County money. The Human Resources & Development Department responded and now sends its employee newsletter, The Grapevine, via email. HR&D estimates that this measure will save the County around $3,600 each year in printing costs.

Code Enforcement Hotline

Employees at Tulare County's Resource Management Agency created an easier way for constituents to report code enforcement violations. Effective June 30, constituents can call the "Code Violation Hotline" at 559/624-7060.

RMA staff says creating this hotline allows employees to work more efficiently by having all code enforcement calls go to one phone number. The hotline creates an additional benefit to constituents by providing the ability to report code violations 24-hours a day.

Additional Benefits

The County Administrative Office is gathering more successful results from the Strengthening the Bottom Line Program and will be presenting them at a future Board of Supervisors meeting.

Again, I commend all the employees who participated in the Strengthening the Bottom Line Program and came up with innovative ways to improve County of Tulare Government.

J. Steven Worthley, Chairman
Tulare County Board of Supervisors

County Receives USDA Grant for Youth Center in Ivanhoe

Ivanhoe, a small unincorporated community in north Tulare County, will receive a $200,000 boost to repair and renovate the community's only youth center.

and kitchen. A new heating and air conditioning unit will be installed and insulation and structural improvements will also be made.

and those who now live and work in the town, are 100 percent behind this clubhouse," Quenzer said. "We received overwhelming support for what we are working to accomplish. This is not just a Tulare County or Boys & Girls Club project; this is true community collaboration."

"This funding will serve as a tremendous benefit to the community of Ivanhoe," Chairman Worthley said. "Tulare County will continue to strive to provide positive activities for our youth."

Currently, the Boys & Girls Club of Tulare County is operating out of the Ivanhoe Lions Club building until the new site is complete.

Boys & Girls Clubs of Tulare County Executive Director Galen Quenzer said the grant award is the result of a collaborative effort between the Tulare County Board of Supervisors, the Boys & Girls Clubs of Tulare County, and the community of Ivanhoe.

Tulare County Capital Projects Manager Brian Summers said Ivanhoe's youth will be able to use the facility by January 2011. In the upcoming months, Tulare County and community volunteers will work to make improvements to the facility.

"This is such an exciting project; not only because it will provide a beautiful new building for Ivanhoe's youth, but because the entire community – the county, the surrounding farmers, those who used to live in Ivanhoe, Ivanhoe's youth attended a check presentation ceremony.

Chairman of the Tulare County Board of Supervisors Steve Worthley, who represents Ivanhoe, said officials with the United States Department of Agriculture's Rural Development Department informed Tulare County in June about a $200,000 grant award in American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) funds.

The $200,000 grant award will be used to repair and renovate a building recently acquired by Tulare County, which will be operated by the Boys & Girls Clubs of Tulare County as a youth center. The funding will be used for construction of a games room, classroom, computer learning center, art room, "Kids Café,"

The youth center is at the corner of Azalea Ave. and Rd. 159

District 2 Supervisor Elected As TCAG Chair

District Two Supervisor Pete Vander Poel

Pete Vander Poel, the District Two representative on the Tulare County Board of Supervisors, was elected June 21 chair of the Tulare County Association of Governments, or TCAG, for the next two years.

TCAG is responsible for overseeing and planning projects with the county and each of its cities, helping to bring tax money back home to fund bus service, road improvements, projects that will improve air quality, and more.

Every two years TCAG elects a chair and vice-chair to its board. The term for this selection runs from July 1, 2010 to June 30, 2012. Any member of TCAG's governing board may hold the position of chair or vice-chair. The TCAG governing board includes a representative from each incorporated city, the Tulare County Board of Supervisors, and three at-large members.

The TCAG governing board unanimously elected Supervisor Vander Poel as chair and Lindsay City Councilwoman Pam Kimball as vice-chair. Councilwoman Kimball's election will mark her second two-year term as TCAG vice-chair.

"I'm thankful that my peers elected me to serve as TCAG's chair for two years," Supervisor Vander Poel said. "I look forward to representing all eight cities and the county when it comes to important regional transportation projects and other regional issues."

District Five Supervisor Mike Ennis served as TCAG chair for the past two years.

What is your most rewarding experience as a County employee?

The people that I work with and the community that we serve.

I am very fortunate to have some excellent leaders, teachers, mentors and role models at the Sheriff's Department. What I have learned is passed on to those that I teach and mentor. But also it is refreshing to learn from a very dedicated and committed staff. I'm very proud of our Sheriff's Department and our staff and the service provided to the community. We are successful because of the teamwork within the Sheriff's Department but also our partnership with other agencies, businesses, community service groups, schools, churches and members of the community.

Working for the Sheriff's Department is very rewarding. The opportunity to experience the various applications in law enforcement is available. One of the benefits is the varying communities and cultures rich in traditions. In some areas it may be a larger community and then to a rural community with a population that may only be 15 to 50 people until the tourists arrive. The people in our County are friendly and have been a pleasure to meet and serve. (The tourists can be very entertaining)

Where is your favorite place to visit in Tulare County?

I enjoy any place that time can be spent with my family. I was recently at a community meeting at Kennedy Meadows. It was a very unique area everything operating off solar power or generators. I brought my wife and youngest son with me. We enjoyed the area and look forward to future visits.

There are many County employees who are doing outstanding things for their community outside of their job.

Step Up Service Learning Grant Program Kicks off in Visalia

Extra:

In addition to the Green Acres project, there are seven other service learning projects taking place in Farmersville, Orsi, Porterville, Tulare, and Visalia at the high school level this summer.

A group of Green Acres Middle School students are learning the value of community service this summer.

A dozen students in June spent two weeks beautifying their campus by repainting baseball dugouts and door safety lines, removed on-campus graffiti, cleaned the school's multi-purpose room, and assisted the school's custodian. This is just one project funded by a Step Up Service Learning Grant, a Tulare County Board of Supervisors-funded program that aims to support service-learning projects that address gang activity and youth at-risk of joining a gang.

Green Acres Middle School Service Learning Grant Advisor Robert Crow said the project served as a valuable lesson for the students.

"Students generally feel disengaged from school activities and from their community," Crow said. "The goal of this program is to develop an ongoing, vibrant and meaningful community service opportunity."

During the program, eight Green Acres Middle School students painted basketball poles and the school's baseball dugouts, among other projects.

The Green Acres Middle School service learning program is the first of its kind in Tulare County. Traditionally, the Step Up Service Learning Grant Program is targeted at high school students.

"Providing service learning projects at the middle school level is an important step to addressing the gang issue," said Phil Cox, District Three Supervisor. "More and more students are getting involved in gangs at an early age. We want to engage our youth in meaningful community service projects before gang influences impact them."

Supervisor Cox said the Tulare County Board of Supervisors will consider increasing funding for middle school projects based on the success of the Green Acres Middle School project. The Step Up Service Learning Grant Program provides participating schools $5,000 for project materials and stipends for advisors and youth.

"This grant program, at the high school level, has proven to be a major success," Supervisor Cox said. "We want that same success at the middle school level as well."
